

A patient of yours asked about ILAI.

ILAI is a biological operating system for practices advancing healthspan. It connects each patient's labs, protocol, wearable readings and symptoms into one record your team reviews, and shows which patients need attention between visits, what changed, and what to do next.

For your practice

- A weekly view of every patient, with the patients who need you first and the number behind each finding.
- Ask ILAI about any patient, and get an answer that shows the draws and values it used.
- A draft requisition that names the rule behind every test it adds, with pricing.
- Every result keeps its lab and method; trends are fitted within one lab.
- You stay in charge. ILAI proposes dose and protocol changes; authorized practice accounts record acceptance, and prescribing responsibility stays with the treating clinician.

For your patients

- Daily updates and check-ins inside ILAI, with messages to the practice from Today.
- Apple Health data from their iPhone, watch or ring, read against their labs.

Getting started

- We set up your practice's own ILAI server, then guide patient onboarding directly or train your practice's staff to do it.
